PULVERVILLE ELIJAH NORTH PHILA

To
Mrs. Mary Packer Cummings
this Volume is Respectfully Dedicated by the Students of Lehigh University in grateful recognition of her benefactions and continued interest in the Institution
Founded by her Father.

Oh Clio, fair, with all thy sisters eight
To thee our lowly homage here we make
And beg of thee our hearts and hands to take Into thy guiding power and help create
A work, in every thot, in every word,
An honor to our Alma Mater's name,
A potent impulse to her boundless fame.
Oh kindly hear, fair Muse and having heard,
Send widely, grandly forth o'er land and sea
This scroll that bears the faithful record here
Of life, of death, of vict'ry and defeat;
And with thine august hand and seal decree
Our work shall bring to all a hearty cheer
And loyally the Sons of Lehigh greet.

MANSFIELD MERRIMAN.

IT IS a matter of congratulation for this University that, in the technical world, the name Mansfield Merriman carries with it the indetachable congeer, "Lehigh University"—"Merriman of Lehigh." Nor need the satisfaction that this brings to Lehigh men and Lehigh's friends be dampened by the apprehension that this is merely a working of the law of association. The connection has a psychological basis (for which, in this era of advertising let us be thankful); but it has also a logical foundation that will bear critical examination. Other teachers have served more years in one college and have had the fact published more widely; but hardly will you find one whose life and work have been more closely interwoven in the warp and woof of an institution's history.

When he was called to the Chair of Civil Engineering at Lehigh University in 1878, the young instructor in the Sheffield Scientific School showed brilliant promise, as evidenced particularly in his work, "Method of Least Squares." Far be it from us to say that Prof. Merriman would not have evolved in another sphere. But perhaps it is not too much to say that the struggling young institution furnished as favorable an environment as any; that its poverty was a stimulus and the absolutely free hand given him an inspiration. Prof. Merriman made the Department of Civil Engineering in Lehigh University. Likewise Lehigh made Prof. Merriman the teacher he became by furnishing a fertile field for the particular seed he had to sow. The benefit was mutual. A concrete instance of this is found in the matter of text-books written by Prof. Merriman. Some of his most important works, the books on the materials of engineering and on bridges, were largely the outgrowth of lectures in the classroom. The "Treatise on Hydraulics" was prepared as the result of work in instituting the University's hydraulic laboratory.

Lehigh honors herself in honoring her great teacher. It has been said that "Prof. Merriman's influence in the development of the teaching of Civil Engineering in the United States has been felt as much as that of any one man." Lehigh rejoices in the unanimous accord given this declaration everywhere. She is proud of the men who, receiving their instruction under Prof. Merriman at Lehigh, now hold positions of high responsibility as bridge engineers, railroad engineers, structural engineers, hydraulic engineers, sanitary engineers, consulting engineers and teachers of engineering.

"He is great who feeds other minds." Eleven of the instructors formerly under Prof. Merriman at Lehigh have become Professors of Civil Engineering in other colleges. The practical men are seeking "to promote sound engineering practice;" the teachers "to advance the interests of sound engineering education"—both of which have been the express aim of Prof. Merriman at Lehigh.

Prof. Merriman is now devoting himself to professional work entirely. But those who heard his Alumni luncheon speech last June and who know of his loyal support since, thankfully say "It is still Merriman of Lehigh."

SENIORITY

THE time is fast approaching when we, as Seniors, must in act, if not in spirit, sever our connections with Lehigh. Four long years are nearly past, and each has held for us its measure of success or failure, pleasure or sorrow. A Senior history often forms one unbroken eulogy of Freshman enterprise, Sophomore prowess, Junior serenity, and Senior wisdom; but while our record is one to be remembered with pride and satisfaction, it has not always been clear, nor has the way always been easy.

No particular distinction marked the class that gathered here in 1904, and our first year passed in due time, with moderate success in opposing the aggressions of the Sophomores. In athletics, besides winning the baseball and football games on Founder's Day, we furnished the usual quota of new blood, although many of our best performers in this line have long since fallen by the way.

The following year found us with a few faces missing, but still in sufficient strength to impress upon our successors the lowliness of their position. The Sophomore Banquet, and the resulting devastation of the rural districts of Northampton County, have left such a vivid impression on most memories, that it is scarcely necessary, nor perhaps desirable, to recall them too minutely. All the wildness and folly of our youthful days seemed to expend themselves in one unrestrained outburst, for since then our behavior has been as mild and decorous as could be desired.

Our Junior year proved one of the most pleasant and successful of our college career, although many of our former friends failed to enjoy it with us. Upon our escape from the strenuous activities of underclassmen, we assumed new responsibilities which strengthened and disciplined us for the more exacting requirements of Seniority. Any previous mistakes were atoned for by the chastened spirit that reigned at our Junior Banquet, and the year was further made memorable by the early and successful publication of the EPITOME.

With ranks sadly depleted, but partially filled by recruits from former classes, we inherited the dignities and duties of Seniors. Unable longer to look for guidance to those in power, we have had to realize for ourselves the meaning of this new burden. Whether or not it has been due to a wise administration, the life of the college thus far during the present year has been less troubled by those petty excesses so detrimental to the reputation and fair fame of any institution, than for a long period in the past.

As a class our accomplishments have seldom been brilliant, but they at least have always been substantial and reliable. None of the Faculty would accuse us of high scholarship, for in many cases several dips into the fount of knowledge were necessary, before we learned to swim. We have won considerable distinction in athletics, and even if our hopes were not fully realized last fall, we have witnessed two victories in baseball over our ancient rivals. In other lines of college activity—musical, literary and dramatic—our representatives have carried off well-merited honors. We have upheld the Honor System as it was handed down to us, and have endeavored to preserve it as a vital principle in undergraduate life at Lehigh.

One other cause for gratification, and this list is complete. Upon returning to college last September, we found presented to us a new set of opportunities and of problems—those connected with Taylor Hall and the Commons. Many of us have taken advantage of the opportunities, and with the cooperation of the other classes, the problems have to a large degree met with solution. We have thus been more fortunate than any of our predecessors, if these privileges were of only a single year's duration. That we shall have so short a time in Drown Memorial Hall will be an abiding source of regret.

At last we have reached the stage where we can well appreciate the oft-reiterated phrase, that nothing can ever take the place of college days. During the last four years, so short now in retrospect, our life, our actions, and our character have been embraced in our existence here; and soon we shall leave it to pass into a future whose destiny for us is undisclosed. Not until Commencement Day, perhaps, will we feel the true significance of parting from our many associations, from our true and steadfast friends, some of whom we may never see again. And in the years to come, when we pause from the multitudinous activities of our busy lives, may we never have cause to remember with regret anything that has happened since we first met as the Class of 1908.

JUNIOR

TORY

WE WILL soon have passed our first year as upperclassmen, that coveted distinction for which we have striven and battled and at last attained, but at a fearful cost. Here and there are vacant places in the ranks. Many have fallen, some never to return to the battle field, while others have recovered sufficiently to come back and join the ranks of the following column and again face the dangers of the fray. We have pressed steadily onward until but one short year separates us from that fortress, the goal of our ambitions, our diploma. Others are expected to fall by the wayside before we make the complete conquest, but all these will never forget their classmates and the glorious class of "Nineteen Hundred and Nine."

In the calm days of our Junior year we have often thought of those bygone times when we, as Freshmen, contended for honors against the Sophomores. We were not always victorious but, whether victors or not, we always awaited the next fray with impatience. We recall our Sophomore year, those memorable days of guiding and advising the Freshmen over whom we demonstrated our superiority, in the rush on Opening Day; in the sports on Founders' Day, and still later in the year in the basketball contests. But we not only recall victories over the Freshmen, for others were made to suffer defeat at our hands, when we won the Interclass Track Meet and the Interclass Lacrosse Championship.

Those were days never to be forgotten; days of strife requiring other than physical prowess, for we had yet to fight to conquer that fiend Calculus. But, as a fitting close to our underclassmen days, we had revenge on this deadly foe in one great night of song and dance by its "Cremation"—an event long to be remembered by those who witnessed it.

Our Junior year has been uneventful. Our friends, the class of Nineteen Hundred and Eleven, have given us little care, for early in their career they demonstrated their ability to take care of themselves.

By the time this book has been published, our third Class Banquet will be a cherished memory of the past, and will have sealed us more closely to old Lehigh.

SOPHOMORE HISTORY

IN THE latter part of September, 1906, there came to the Bethlehems that respected and distinguished body of young men now known as the "Class of 1910." We were together for the first time on the night before college opened, and the manner in which we pushed the Sophs aside in the rush that followed, showed the fighting spirit that has always predominated in the exploits of which we are so proud. From this time until after Founder's Day this same spirit humiliated the Sophs in more than one encounter.

After the Christmas holidays we anxiously awaited the attack of the Sophomore snowball brigade, but we were doomed to disappointment in this respect. Much as they were reminded of the annual snowball fight by the upperclassmen, they failed to gather the required amount of nerve necessary to combat with so strong a class as the "Class of 1910."

The banquet was the next important event in our history, it was held at the Wyandotte Hotel in the latter part of March, and proved to be one of the most successful Freshman banquets ever held at Lehigh.

In the spring of the year 1907, we played our Interclass Lacrosse game with the Sophs. In spite of their having an advantage of one year's experience and also the services of a 'Varsity player, they were able to defeat us by only one point, after a desperate struggle. The Interclass Track Meet held in the spring, demonstrated the fact that we have a number of athletes of marked ability.

Upon our return to college in September, 1907, many familiar faces were missing, but there still remained a goodly number who had conquered in their battles with the Math and Physics departments. We were very much impressed by the fact that we were now full-fledged Sophomores. On the night before college opened we assembled for the first time of the year, and after exchanging hearty greetings marched to Packer Hall to meet the motely array, which the Juniors had gathered together, and which was in the future to be known as the "Babes of 1911." The manner in which we showed and jostled these babes around the walk in front of Packer Hall, showed that 1910 still possessed the "brawn and grit" which had conquered just one year before. The remainder of the evening was devoted to posting our proclamations, and in doing so we experienced no trouble from 1911.

Along towards morning a small party, under cover of two dozen Juniors, attempted to remove a few of our proclamations, but they were quickly and indeed very, very easily subdued.

From the day college opened to Founder's Day, the "Babes of 1911" proved themselves to be the most gentle, obliging and nerveless set of "Babes" that ever entered Lehigh. They obeyed our proclamations to the letter. In the annual banner rush on Saturday following the opening of college, we again demonstrated our ability by pushing the "Babes," with blackened faces, from one end of the field to the other, thus easily winning the banner rush. Only once did they venture out before Founder's Day and then under cover of darkness they stole out and painted their numerals on the poles along Packer Avenue and on the athletic field fence. But how pleased they were when on the following day we asked them to remove the paint from the poles! Needless to say they complied with our request with the greatest of pleasure, and quickly removed their numerals from all public places. They showed this same affable spirit also by doing various stunts on the campus for our amusement.

The night before Founder's Day was uneventful. The "nerveless bunch of babes" dared to come out only when accompanied by a large number of Juniors, who certainly nursed their darlings well at all times, to put up a few posters. These were quickly removed and our own posters put in place of them. The results of the Founder's Day sports was somewhat of a disappointment to us. We won the relay race by a mile, but lost the football game. In baseball we held the lead for a few innings, but owing to a balloon ascension in one inning, we were finally defeated by one run. After the sports were over, 1911 attempted to "pee-rade," but of course we did not allow any such proceedings and promptly rushed them off the athletic field.

In the basketball game played at the Haverford smoker, the "Class of 1910" was again victorious. Taking the lead at the start the result was never in doubt.

The "Class of 1910" showed their magnanimous spirit by holding a smoker, soon after Founder's Day, to which it invited the "Class of 1911," in order that the ill feeling between the two classes might cease. In conclusion, the "Class of 1910" may well be proud of its achievements during its first two years at Lehigh, and its prospects are very bright for success during the remainder of its pleasant sojourn at its "Alma Mater." That the "Class of 1910" may ever be known as a body of worthy and loyal sons of Old Lehigh is its highest aim.

FRESH STORY

BEFORE the beginning were the Sophs. Freshmen differ—Sophomores are all alike. Invariably supernatural beings, they go back and forth upon the campus, seeking whom they may devour. And yet, notice the beautiful philosophy of this condition of affairs. Peace does not beget history. The Sophs, before the advent of our great class, planned a series of “receptions” of varied kinds, which, although they smacked strongly of previous “inside information,” always kept the history department of the EPITOME in view.

Perhaps they builded better than they knew—who can tell?

THE SOPHOMORES RECEIVE.

On the 18th of September, 1907, our class, one hundred and seventy-five strong, assembled from many quarters to start a varied and illustrious career. Through the kindness of the Juniors, we were introduced to the Sophomores, and incidentally to Lehigh University. The reception almost took our breath away. Between thick walls of admiring and shouting 1910 men we marched. Beyond them we caught momentary glimpses of the chapel, but these sudden impressions were sufficient to cause every one of us to humbly remove his conventional black cap, albeit the rain was descending in torrents!

Once inside the chapel we heard almost simultaneously that our education was to begin at once, and that this was the day for the time-honored banner rush.

In my mind's eye I can vividly see how, on that glorious day, we marched from the gym (where we had been decorated with war-paint), and, after hour-long minutes of superhuman struggle, swept the vanquished Sophs from the Field of Glory! However, this is only in mind's eye, for you will remember that the day was very stormy. The rush, with variations, came off the following Saturday. Alas! the evils of procrastination.

The possession of other banners was disputed from time to time. 1911 raised emblems on the Engineering Laboratory stack and on the large flag-pole, which required the combined efforts of an auto, a lineman's brave heart, and many shekels to remove.

FOUNDER'S DAY.

Founder's Day, Thursday, October 10, was twenty-four hours long. Every hour was crowded with daring deeds, glorious victories, or happy rejoicings.

Despite the watchfulness of our friends, we were often forced to make hurried visits to the protecting shades of Shanty Hill, the Saquoit Silk Mill or under doorsteps. Nevertheless, our labors were well directed, for, at the dawn of one of lavish October's rarest days, posters of remarkably correct prophecy shouted from every telegraph pole, fence and roller rink in South Bethlehem. It is rumored that the Soph posters were a vivid green—they were conspicuous by their complete absence.

The morning had come. We ought to have attended an address in the chapel. The day was perfect. Did we appreciate the additional oxygen and the touch of frost in the air, the excessive good nature of the sun, the deepened green of the feverish Indian Summer grass, or the magnificence of the trees, the chapel and old Packer Hall in blazing holiday garb? I doubt it, yet the ordinary man seldom sees such a day—a Freshman but once in a lifetime.

We lost the relay. We cheered ourselves to a whisper and back again when, in five innings we beat the Sophs at baseball, 2 to 1. How we cheered during the football game, upon which depended so much, none of us know, but, at the end of the first half, with the score 2 to 0 in our favor, such roars of joy and encouragement saluted that record-making team, that they lifted their tired heads, and in ten minutes came out refreshed and ready for the crisis. For the game was not yet won; the supremacy was still to be decided. Things were at extreme tension—how little and impotent we of the bleachers felt, and oh! how we envied those men!

They really worked like veterans. By fierce line plunges and speedy end plays the ball crept on. At no time was our goal in danger, and near the end of the game, victory for the day was clenched by a brown ball behind two goal posts. Hurrah, hurrah! According to the class poet and musician:

“What have we done, what have we done?

Beaten the Sophomores, seven to none.”

“Now for a pee-rade.” One minute—the Sophs want us to reform our little “spiel.” They are upon us—turn, Freshmen, climax your victories. We bang, stumble, push—you know what a rush is like.

That night came the well-earned rejoicings; but you should also have faint ideas of what they were like, or, if not, watch the Sophomores of next year.

THE DOVE OF PEACE.

Through the kindness of the Sophomores we were tendered many receptions, indeed, countless times did we, in our peaceful peregrinations through the streets of S. B., fall into the hands of receivers. The greatest of all, however, was the Love Feast of October 25. With kindness aforethought, the Sophomores decided that friendship between the two lower classes would benefit the whole college. From 8 to 11 that night, they heaped coals of tobacco on our willing pipes, they provided entertainment for us, they fraternized with us. To say that we were delighted and proud to be the first recipients at Lehigh of such an honor is to put it mildly.

On Wednesday, October 16, we held our first class meeting and elected officers for the ensuing year. Other business meetings were held from time to time, the Constitution was drafted in December and accepted shortly after the Christmas holidays, we began to moult some of our verdant plumage and became a full-fledged Lehigh class.

In many ways the Class of 1911 has been unusual. The entrance requirements were raised for us, and the class is small, but we have been as well represented in all athletic sports as any larger class. Not a few of us have done and are doing good work with the various musical, dramatic or literary associations.

We changed the conventional Founder's Day. The smoker of October 25 was a successful innovation for our benefit.

We have marked the advent of the Dormitories and the Commons, Drown Hall and the Engineering Laboratory. Several new accessions to the teaching force have been as many added advantages to us.

From him to whom much is given, much shall be required. Increased advantages mean increased responsibilities to the world at large. How deeply we appreciate all these manifold advantages it would be useless to state. Suffice it to say, that, before or after our four Lehigh years are over, when weighed in the balance we shall not be found wanting.

GOOD RESOLUTIONS.

Tune—The Watch on the Rhine.

One hundred strong we're here to-night
And we shall stay till near daylight,
Until we burn old Calculus
And kill his friends with mighty rush.
With spirits high and thoughts quite light
We'll put all "fiends" far out of sight.
O Calculus, we'll fight with all our might,
We'll burn you up, clear up, in lurid light.

O Calculus, your time has come!
Saint Peter now 'midst muffled drum
Will step without the golden gate
And hurl you back to Pluto's State.
Ah! then we'll yell with fiendish glee
And dance around with jollity.
O Calculus, we'll fight with all our might,
We'll put you down, far down, where you can't bite.

THE THORNY LAND.

Tune—Dixie.

How I wish I were in the top of Packer—
Mem'ries of there can not grow blacker—
Revenge, Revenge, Revenge on Calculus!
Up in Thorny's land I'd like to wander,
Thorny's realm I swear I'll plunder,
Revenge, Revenge, Revenge on Calculus!

Cho.—Then I wish I were in Packer,
Revenge, Revenge!
From Packer Hall I'd like to fall
Right down upon old Thorny,
Clear down, clear down,
Clear down upon old Thorny,
Clear down, clear down,
Clear down upon old Thorny.

Dif-fa-en-choo-a-tion I did tackle,
Sulph'rous fires began to crackle,
Revenge, Revenge, Revenge on Calculus!
Soon I thought I'd tasted the hereafter,
Thorny's grin just turned to laughter,
Revenge, Revenge, Revenge on Calculus!

Integration then with Pop descended,
Thorny's laugh I comprehended,
Revenge, Revenge, Revenge on Calculus!
Fire and brimstone now rained down in lakefuls,
Sleepy Jack yawned black in-tee-grals,
Revenge, Revenge, Revenge on Calculus!

And at last came along the glorious final,
Four long hours of thoughts infernal,
Revenge, Revenge, Revenge on Calculus!
Thorny, Pop and Jack now laugh supinely
They have flunked me out quite finely,
Revenge, Revenge, Revenge on Calculus!

H. H. K.

FLUNKULUS.

Tune—Updee.

The flunks in math were swearing fast,
Calculus, Calculus!
A thru the Beth'lem village past,
Calculus, culo!
A fiend who bore 'mid books on math
A volume with this name of wrath.

Calculee, culus, culo
Calculus, Calculus,
Calculee, culus, culo,
Calculus, culo!

And up the stairs of Packer Hall
Calculus, Calculus!
The Soph'mores staggered to their fall;
Calculus, culo!
We went to Thorny, Jack and Pop,
And some to Lockner higher up.

In class our woes had just begun,
 Calculus, Calculus!
 With one hour quizzes, "Omit One"
 Calculus, culo!
 Jack Ogburn yawned and slowly said
 They'll study this when we are dead.

Pop Meaker rose and scratched his head,
 Calculus, Calculus!
 And on the bull'tin board we read
 Calculus, culo!
 That Thorny's "Notes" we must procure
 To make our flunking doubly sure.

But o'er this fiend of Calculus,
 Calculus, Calculus!
 The Sophs have been victorious,
 Calculus, culo!

And now we're going to burn to asn,
 A fitting end for all such trash.

S. L. H.

FINIS CALCULI.

Tune—O Mother, dear Jerusalem.

O Calculus, O Calculus,
 With you we're thru to-day

And now we're gathered 'round this fire
 To put you out of way.
 For months you have tormented us,
 Now we must be set free,
 And 'round your funeral pyre we'll dance
 With hellish, fiendish glee.

Oh! ne'er again we'll integrate
 From Pi to A or B;
 Or fix the limits for the length
 Of witch or cat'nary.
 Inertia, gravity, and mass
 Will all be left behind,
 On differentials and the like
 Ne'er more now shall we grind.

Ye fiends incarnate, quickly come,
 For we have work to do,
 And 'tis a very joyful task
 That we've assigned to you.
 So take our great arch-enemy,
 And let the hot fires burn,
 The awful monster hurl therein,
 Ne'er more then to return.

1907 CLASS POEM.

THE tower clock the hour of three had tolled,
As in the chapel decked with red and gold,
Our class as Freshmen first together came
To start the course that's brot us name and fame.

As strange and raw a motley crowd I ween
As e'er the ancient chapel halls had seen,
No class or college spirit warmed our breast,
Nor knowledge deep that makes a life the best.

But soon we learned that unity is strength,
And that the lonely selfish man, at length,
Has naught to make a life that's full and true,
That help a fellowman his journey thru.

As time fled quickly on and each began
To realize himself a college man,
His pride and honor strongly, grandly grew
For good old ivied Lehigh staunch and true.

We learned to always make the play that's fair
And to opponents give an honest share,
We learned, in short, to do the thing that's right
And brings due honor to the Brown and White.

As college life and ways upon us grew
There came the burden of our duty, too.
Each man was by the noble thot impressed,
That class and college asked of him his best.

And we have laid our shoulders to the task
And tried to do whate'er Old Lehigh asked,
The heavy duties that upon us fell,
We've done our plighted best to render well.

And now the climax we've attained at last
And backward look upon the period, past.
Our stay has been a useful pleasant one,
And fleet of foot the busy days have run.

The lessons by our Alma Mater taught
Have left our hearts with love and honor fraught;
With will to do and ready minds to know
We forth on life's alluring journey go.

The world has need of all we have to give,
Resolved a life sincere and right to live,
We leave Old Lehigh's portals, in her name,
To bring our class and college rank and fame,

JOS. B. REYNOLDS.

ALTHOUGH the fast vanishing football season of 1907 may not be called a brilliant one, it may surely be called a successful one. With eight games won, two lost and one tied, we have little to be ashamed of, in spite of the fact that we were again defeated by Lafayette.

With a majority of the 1906 'Varsity back in college, the coaches and scrubs rounded out a team of which we are proud. Its play was consistent and showed steady improvement as the season advanced.

The Lafayette game of 1907 is one which will ever remain in the memory of those who saw it. Our team played with that fighting spirit so characteristic of Lehigh. Just when victory seemed to be ours it was wrenched from us by a decision of a rather questionable nature.

However, we look forward to a still more successful season in 1908. Although we lose some of our best players, enough old men remain for the nucleus of a good team.

TO say that the 1907 baseball season was a success is putting it mildly, for, aside from the winning of nine games as over against our opponents' seven, the result of the series upon which so much depends was all that Lehigh supporters could wish for. Lafayette was twice beaten, decisively and without question, a feat which Lehigh had not been able to accomplish for four years.

The team while erratic at times played splendid ball, especially against Pennsylvania, Dickinson, Penn State and Villanova to whom we lost by narrow margins. Notable victories were secured over West Point, University of Alabama and Franklin and Marshall. The work of Hesse, '07, as pitcher is worthy of mention for to him was due a large part of the successful record. With the exception of him and Capt. Mackall, the team practically remains intact for the coming season.

THE season of 1907 in lacrosse was the most satisfactory one that Lehigh has had for years. Three victories, two defeats and one tie sums up the result of the season's work. In the standing in the intercollegiate championship series, Lehigh lays rightful claim to second place despite the fact that in percentages three teams were placed on the same footing. While Stevens defeated us early in the season, we later won a decisive victory over Swarthmore, who in turn downed Stevens. This justifies the claim mentioned above. The team work as a whole showed a marked improvement over former years; and had the schedule been better arranged, championship honors might have been ours. With the graduation of eight regular players, the prospects for this spring could be better although the large squad contains much promising material.

UNTOWARD circumstances blighted the prospects of an unusually promising track team. The quartet that journeyed to the Pennsylvania Relay Races was the fastest that ever represented Lehigh and finished two places better than last year's team. The conversion of the Rutgers field into a miniature sea postponed the opening meet with the New Brunswick College, while the cancelling of the Franklin and Marshall meet added to the discouragement of the men.

Five firsts were captured at Haverford in spite of the setback, and three Lehigh records were broken. The team, however, was compelled to disband when Lafayette announced that the day annually fixed for the Lehigh-Lafayette meet had been given to another college. With the graduation of only three members of the team, Lehigh's outlook in track is encouraging.

BASKET- BALL

SUCCESS has again marked another season's efforts in this branch of athletics. The work of the team seemed to be a continuation of the splendid record achieved by last year's five. Unfortunately, the games did not begin until after the second term—a drawback to the players as well as to the make-up of the schedule.

The play thruout the season was fast and consistent and the outcome on the whole only strengthens the fact that Lehigh should make a specialty of this line of sport. With three regulars as a nucleus and much promising material in the squad, next year's team should again bring success to our enviable basketball record.

THE closing words of last year's gymnasium write-up was "next year let every lover of gymnasium work turn out to help place his Alma Mater where it ought to stand." Seldom in the history of this sport at Lehigh has advice of this kind been so well heeded as it has this year.

Before the call for candidates in the fall, prospects for a successful team were not very encouraging. However, a large and active squad responded, and thru the earnest work and spirit exhibited by Capt. Trembley coupled with the excellent instruction by Dr. Davis, a successful team has been developed.

Our first meet with Haverford was close and clearly demonstrated that active interest in this branch of sport is being taken by the student body.

The work of Trembley, Frankenfield and Young has been of exceedingly high order while the new men, notably Vogt, Boyd, Johnson and Sturgis, have done well for their first season.

The outlook for a successful season next year is very promising. Only two men are lost by graduation, Frankenfield and Raine, leaving as a strong nucleus, Captain Trembley, Young, Vogt, Boyd, Johnson, Horner, Sturgis and Boteler.

LEHIGH.

ALMA MATER,—dear old Lehigh,
Raise the name, let it resound,
Never was a dearer, kinder
Alma Mater ever found.

Well we love our Alma Mater
With a love both true and strong,
And thruout our life's long journey
Shall our hearts to her belong.

How it sets the red blood tingling
When we see the White and Brown,
How it sets the boys to cheering
When the enemy goes down.

In far lands in honored places
Are strong men, dear Lehigh's sons
Winning laurels and successes,
They are Lehigh's honored ones.

Alma Mater,—dear old Lehigh,
Raise the name, let it resound,
Never was a dearer, kinder
Alma Mater ever found.

A HISTORY OF LEHIGH.

LEHIGH UNIVERSITY owes its origin to the determination of Judge Asa Packer, the builder of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, to return to his State and country a part of the wealth he had gained from his success along financial and engineering lines. His decision to establish an educational institution for the training of young men of the Lehigh Valley and elsewhere began to take form in 1864, and his philanthropic idea soon crystallized.

In 1865 the trustees met and organized; in February, 1866, an act incorporating Lehigh University was passed by the Legislature of Pennsylvania; and on September 1st, of the same year, the Institution was formally opened.

The beginning of Lehigh University was very modest indeed. There were but two classes, and the building in which they worked and recited was a church edifice, bought from the Moravian Brethren; we know it now as Christmas Hall. The rooms in the building were rented to the students as dormitories, and a regular boarding house was provided under the personal direction of the faculty. Packer Hall was scarcely above its foundations. The faculty, as announced in the register of 1866, numbered six professors and one instructor. According to the scheme then in force, all students took the same studies for the first two years, and not until the third year did they elect the course they wished to pursue during the last two years. The courses open to choice were five: General Literature, Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Mining and Metallurgy, and Analytical Chemistry.

But this state of affairs was not permanent. The University immediately began to grow and prosper. The large enrollment of students soon compelled the faculty to give up their boarding house and dormitory rooms. Beautiful and well-equipped buildings sprang up and were occupied by an ever increasing number of students. In the fall of 1868, Packer Hall was completed, and the same year Robert Sayre, Esquire, of South Bethlehem, gave the Observatory which bears his name. Eight years later Saucon Hall was erected. This building, like Christmas Hall, was also used as a dormitory until the needs of the growing Institution required it for educational purposes. In 1879 the Library was built at a cost of $100,000. This building was designed by the Founder as a memorial to his daughter, Mrs. Lucy Packer Linderman, and at his death was endowed with the sum of $400,000. The rise of interest in Physical Culture resulted in a well-appointed gymnasium building, erected at a cost of $40,000. The necessity for new Laboratories became pressing, and in 1883 a large, well-equipped Chemical Laboratory was built, and a few years later a Physical Laboratory. At the seventh anniversary celebration of Founder's Day, October 8th, 1885, the corner stone of Packer Memorial Chapel was laid. This magnificent structure was the gift of Mrs. Mary Packer Cummings in memory of her family. The next new structure was Williams Hall, built in 1903, the gift of an Alumnus of the University, Prof. E. H. Williams of the class of '75. The most recent additions to the University buildings are the Commons; Taylor Hall, the gift of Andrew Carnegie; and Drown Memorial Hall. Besides these more important buildings, there are the combined Engineering Laboratory and Engine House, the Field House and the Cage, for winter practice in the various sports.

As the University grew, not only were buildings erected, but new courses were established and old ones revised. In 1877 Judge Packer established a Classical Professorship, and the University was divided into two schools: General Literature and Technology. Three years later separate chairs of Greek and Latin—up to this time under one professor—were established. To the school of General Literature, the Latin Scientific Course was added, and in 1889 the whole scheme of studies in this school was thoroughly revised. In the school of Technology as early as 1881, the rapid influx of students necessitated the creation of new chairs. In the department of Metallurgy, separate chairs of Mining and Geology, and Metallurgy and Mineralogy were established. In like manner Mechanical Engineering and Civil Engineering, hitherto united, were divided. In 1884 an advanced course in Electricity was founded, and in 1888 a regular course in Electrical Engineering with proper degree, was instituted. The latest additions are the Chemical Engineering Course, recently established to meet the needs of this rapidly growing science, and the Course in Electro-Metallurgy, each with suitable degrees.

In the college life at Lehigh, athletics have always held a prominent place. Baseball was the first game to be established. A strong team is annually put in the field. In football Lehigh's early reputation was enviable. Both Pennsylvania and Lafayette were defeated in 1886, Lehigh winning the championship of the State. In 1893 the team was beaten only by Princeton and Pennsylvania, and ranked fifth in the United States. Since then Lehigh's fortune has been varied. There have been winning teams and losing teams, but victories and defeats have been alike honorable. Lehigh's triumphs in lacrosse have been marked. In 1890, '93, '95 and '96, Lehigh held the championship of the United States. In basketball on her own floor Lehigh has been almost invincible. Track athletics and gymnastic meets have not been neglected, as many well-won banners attest.

All athletic contests at Lehigh are supervised by the Athletic Committee composed of members of the faculty, alumni and undergraduates. This committee was organized by the trustees in 1895.

Outside the classroom, voluntary and independent investigation is given full scope in the clubs formed in the various departments. Thus, in the School of Technology the Civil Engineering Society dates from 1900. The Mechanical Society was founded in 1900, and the Electrical Engineering Society in 1887, and reorganized in 1901. The Mining and Geological Society was established in 1899, and in 1906 the Chemical Society. The school of General Literature is represented by the Arts and Science Club, founded in 1905.

In mentioning the intellectual elements in the student life, we must not forget the publications. The oldest of these is the Epitome, which was begun in 1875. For nine years it was in the hands of the Sophomore Class, but since then the Junior Class has had it in charge. The Lehigh Burr was established in the fall of 1881, and represents the literary side of the Publications. In 1895 the Brown and White, a bi-weekly periodical designed to chronicle current news, appeared, and achieved immediate success.

During the progress of the events here briefly chronicled, five presidents have directed the destinies of Lehigh. Dr. Henry Coppée, a graduate of the United States Military Academy, was our first President, serving until 1875 when he resigned, retaining, however, the chair of English. For twenty years he held this chair and watched the growth of Lehigh, until death ended his service for her.

The Reverend John McDowell Leavitt, D. D., a graduate of Jefferson College, was the second President of Lehigh University, serving until 1879. Upon his resignation, the Honorable Robert Alexander Lamberton, LL.D., was elected President. He was a prominent lawyer and had long been connected with the University as an active trustee. He presided vigorously and ably over the University until his death in 1893. He was succeeded by Doctor Thomas Messinger Drown, a man of broad education, a graduate of Pennsylvania, a student at Yale and Harvard, and later at Freiburg and Heidelberg. Doctor Drown was an authority in Chemistry, well known and esteemed among scientific and professional men, and peculiarly fitted for successful college administration. His death on November 16th, 1904, was a sad blow to the University and all interested in her.

Of Doctor Drinker, our present President, little need be said. A graduate of Lehigh in the Class of 1871, his heart is in his work. He has the love of the students, the esteem of alumni, and the confidence of the trustees. In the short time during which he has been the presiding officer of the University he has accomplished wonders, and with the aid of the loyal alumni and zealous trustees and friends of Lehigh, he will do even more.

TO YOU.

TWO eyes of restless blue;
Soul's windows, where love light shining through,
Makes my heart sing a song of sorriest pain,
When it flies—until it comes again.

Two lips that a rose might see, and blush;
Two lips that a Cupid fain would hush!
No mortal on earth would refrain from fea:
If dangerous roses came too near.

Tresses of gold like a—a—(let me see)
Throat of a swan—I mean—(Oh dear me!)
A figure that Venus would marvel at;
(Now what in blazes will rhyme with that.)

Fairest daughter of—of—(her father, of course!)
Proudly borne head—(Jove! that sounds like a horse!)
Thy proudly borne head borne with Goddess-like grace;
Scratch it! won't do! Two bornes in the same place.

I—we—Her—that is—I mean—Oh D——n! !
A man might go to his desk and write,
A man might scribble and quibble all night
Of lips like roses and eyes of blue,
Yet no verse was e'er made to do justice to you!

SONNET

Addressed to the Math. Dept. Bulletin Boards.

YE FROWNING boxes, heartless, heedless thou;
If ye had hearts what memories would be yours!
For ye have seen the triumph and despair
Of many a class, which entered these grim doors
Two hundred strong, eager, expectant, keen
To meet their work, hopeful and fearless they
Who thought each one, to struggle and to win
The goal which crowns this long and toilsome way.
They came, they strove, on you their fate appeared.
They read, their tense expectant faces showed
If what they saw, was what they hoped or feared,
Most fell, a bare four score survived the road,—
And ye shall stand, while we like shadows pass,
And blazon fate to many an unborn class.

O°

FOR a home on Greenland's shore,
Amid the snow and sleet,
Where I might live in peace once more,
Far from all thoughts of heat.

The torture of my present state
Is sad beyond dispute,
For what I know of this exam,
Is zero, absolute.

And, as I think of what will come,
My blood chills at the thought.
My thermometric constant then
Is zero, zero naught.

I am afraid that I will rise
Not even one degree,
For, ah, my scales the scale of "F,"
And not the scale of "C."

A SOLILOQUY.

MY PIPE is out, no one's about,
The time has come to study!
I try in vain to work my brain
My thoughts are dim and muddy.

I look behind and there I find
A row of ghastly flunks,
While College rules and Summer schools
Have cost me many plunks.

I look before and sere and sore
The anguish fills my soul,
For far and wide on every side
Exams and quizzes roll.

While here I sit, the moments flit,
A hard exam to-morrow,
An E for me I plainly see
Which I shall view with sorrow.

'Tis ever thus, no use to cuss!
But why should I complain,
'Tis plain to see no hope for me—
'I'll light my pipe again.

IN DAYS GONE BY.

REVENGE.

A Melo Drama in 2 Acts and a Prolog.

PROLOG.

Scene: Room—Section B, Taylor Hall. Time: Midnight. Brummie and the Red One are discovered in the midst of a dark, deep plot. Suddenly the telephone bell upstairs rings. A voice is heard, "Hell-O!"

THE RED ONE: "Hist! What is that?"

BRUMMIE: "It was only the cry of our victims to be—" Hell-O!

THE RED ONE: "Thinkest thou our plan will work?"

BRUMMIE: "It will unless the water wagon runs dry."

CURTAIN.

ACT I.—Scene: Open court before Taylor Hall. Sky, cloudless. A group of inmates of Section E are seen lounging about the steps. There is a holiday expression on all faces.

CHORUS: "Now tell us once more how soon the stuff must be in for the EPI-TOME."

CLIVER, '09: "Honest tho, I was really afraid it would rain."

BAKEWELL, '09 (looking at his watch): "It's about time that picture man gets here."

DORSEY, '08: "There he comes now."

LANKY McCANN, '08: "Hey! you Freshman, run up to the second floor and tell 'Crook' and 'Dick' to comb their hair in a hustle."

An auburn haired individual wearing a derby hat and a smile appears with a photographer's outfit. There is a consultation with McCann, '08.

McCAA: "Now in order to get the most artistic effect, it will be necessary to group the men in as—"

McCANN, '08: "Exactly! Fellows, sit down."

McCAA: "Fellows, we have a fine day and I'll make you a nice picture."

(Brummie and the Red One who have been crawling along the cornice above from Section D to E, chuckle with Satanic glee.)

McCAA: "Now fellows—Ketcham there, please don't cross your limbs."

CROWD: "Ha! Ha! he said 'Limbs.'"

McCAA: "Now fellows, act perfectly natural—you help me and I'll make you an artistic pict—"

CROWD: "Oh! cut it out." (A period of confusion. The group is finally coaxed back into geometrical form.)

McCAA: "Now, are you all ready? I'll count three. Look this way."

ALECK, '09: "Watch the birdie"

BRUMMIE (above): "Not yet, but soon."

McCAA: "Here we are, now all ready, one two—"

"And the rain descended and the floods came." From out the cloudless sky, a torrent of water pours upon the luckless group, drenching every member. Brummie and the Red One above, quickly withdraw the Section E four-inch hose, and flee.

CHORUS: "O, H——!!??!X?!!"

BRUMMIE (in flight): "The telephone omen is fulfilled. Not Hello, but O, Hell! Reds, I am now going to do some special work in the Physical Laboratory. See you later."

CHORUS (still): "!!!X!??!!"

CURTAIN.

ACT II—Scene: Same as Act I. Time: 2 A. M. Four dark forms glide across the court from Section E trailing a garden hose. Moonlight streams upon the window of Room —, Section B.

FIRST CONSPIRATOR (gazing into window): "He sleeps."

SECOND CONSPIRATOR: "My lady love sleep."

(Over the innocent countenance of "Little Eva" slumbering within there passes a smile of rapturous joy. Brummie is dreaming of last week's Orpheum soubrette.

FIRST CONSPIRATOR (holding the hose): "Oh! that innocent smile. I dare not do it."

SECOND, THIRD AND FOURTH CONSPIRATORS: "Revenge! revenge! ye coward."

(Just then Brummie's dream changes. The happy smile becomes a gleeful chuckle.)

BRUMMIE (tossing in bed): "And they were so glad it was a clear day."

FIRST CONSPIRATOR (shouting across the court to Sixth Conspirator at the hose attachment): "On with the flood!"

Sound of crashing glass and the sizzle sozzle of a garden hose.

BRUMMIE (in bed): "O H——!"

CURTAIN

5.—The Seniors banquet
at the Wyandotte.
That's all.

9.—Swarthmore in a stubborn contest, again defeated by the Brown and White 37 to 23.

11.—The last of the series of the Y. M. C. A. entertainment course, the Ion Jackson Concert Company, maintains the same high standard set by the previous numbers

12.—The Class of 1908 holds their annual banquet. Not Broadhead's but the Wyandotte.

15.—The Sophomores think it is time for them to eat also.

16.—A concert is given by the combined musical clubs in the Grand Opera House.

19.—The Freshmen have their first banquet. The menu includes Mel-len's Food and milk.

22.—Initiatory banquet of the Tau Beta Pi at the Eagle Hotel.

23.—The "L" gymnastic contest won by L. A. Moore, '07.

27.—12 M.—Easter recess is on.

April 4.—College reopens.

6.—The baseball team begins the season by winning from Albright 4 to 3.

10.—C. C. N. Y. is beaten in lacrosse 5 to 1. A driving snow-squall makes the contest a picturesque one.

13.—Lehigh wins in baseball from St. Johns, 1 to 0; and the lacrosse team does the same at Baltimore with Mt. Washington 8 to 5.

17.—Lehigh battles with the Army at West Point and is victorious 13 to 7

18.—Our lacrosse team ties with Harvard in a contest which darkness ends. Score 6-6.

19.—11 A. M.—Dr. Wiley lectures in his usual fine style on "The Service of Science to the State."

The alumni of the Bethlehem Preparatory School, who are students at Lehigh, meet and form a permanent organization.

9 P. M.—The second of the Sophomore Cotillion dances takes place at the Eagle.

20.—The baseball nine continues to win. Lehigh 6, C. C. N. Y. 3. The lacrosse team meets its first defeat from Johns Hopkins at Baltimore. Score 12 to 2.

26.—4 P. M.—Formation of a Bethlehem High School Lehigh Club.

8 P. M.—A joint meeting of the mining engineering societies of Columbia, Lafayette and Lehigh is held in Williams Hall.

8 P. M.—Organ recital by T. Edgar Shields before a large audience in the Chapel.

27.—A strenuous day for Lehigh athletes with the following rather poor results: Dickinson 6, Lehigh 5; Stevens 12, Lehigh 2. The relay team also ran on Franklin Field.

May 1.—A new record established—the 1908 EPITOME is out on time.

Villanova defeats us in baseball 4 to 2.

4.—In a contest replete with spectacular plays, the lacrosse team downs Swarthmore 7 to 1.

Lafayette wins the first of the series in baseball, but wait!

5.—The 1909 EPITOME Board holds its initial meeting and elects officers.

8.—Our fifth victory in baseball is made by defeating Stevens. Score 9-4.

11.—The Class of 1909 wins the inter-class meet. The Seniors come second and the Juniors third. The Freshmen take their usual place—last.

17.—11 A. M.—Dr. W. L. Estes gives the first of a series of two lectures on "The Modern Science of Prevention."

4 P. M.—The Sophomore lacrosse team trims the Freshman twelve.

18.—Penn. State manages to beat us by the close score of 3 to 2.

The game is a splendid exhibition of baseball.

21.—The 1909 Class "shines" again by winning from the Juniors in lacrosse.

24.—11 A. M.—The second lecture by Dr. Estes.

- 8 P. M.—Open air smoker at the flag pole. The college band renders valuable assistance toward the success of this innovation.
- 25.—Lafayette meets her Waterloo in baseball 4 to 2 and—there's more coming.
- 28.—The Ben Greet performances on the campus. At 3 P. M.—“Twelfth Night” is presented and at 8 o'clock “A Midsummer Night's Dream.”
- 31.—Exams begin. Nothing further need be said.
- June 8.—3.30 P. M.—The “Grand Finale” of the Lafayette series: Lehigh 4, Lafayette 2 We've waited four long years but—“everything comes to him who waits.” There is much mourning and deep sorrow twelve miles down the river.
- 8 P. M.—The annual Calculus Cremation held near the flag pole.
- 9.—Baccalaureate Sermon in the Chapel at 11 A. M. by the Rt. Rev. Cortlandt Whitehead, D. D., S. T. D., Bishop of Pittsburgh.
- 10.—2 P. M.—Class Day exercises in the rear of Dr. Drinker's residence.
- 4 P. M.—The 'Varsity lacrosse team defeats the alumni 1 to 0.
- 9 P. M.—The Junior Hop in the gymnasium.
- 11.—11.30 A. M.—Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association. Movement enthusiastically set on foot for a million dollar endowment fund.
- 1 P. M.—Alumni luncheon in the gymnasium.
- 3.30 P. M.—Last baseball game of the season with the University of Alabama. A victory by the score of 5 to 4.
- 8 P. M.—Phi Beta Kappa address in the Chapel by the Rev. George W. Knox, D. D., LL. D., on “The Message of the East.”
- 9 P. M.—President's reception in the gymnasium.
- 12.—10.30 A. M.—Commencement exercises in the Chapel. Alumni address to the graduates by Charles L. Taylor, '76.
- Sept. 18.—Sophomore-Freshman rush takes place at midnight in front of Packer Hall. Freshmen show great determination.
- College Commons commences operations. Dormitory life takes a real start.
- President Drinker welcomes the Freshmen to Lehigh at the first Chapel exercises.
- 19.—Recitations for the year begin. No rest for the weary.
- 21.—Postponed opening day rush between the Sophomores and Freshmen takes place on the athletic field. Sophs win by a big margin.
- 28.—Barometer falls—also rain—also Muhlenberg's hope of winning Lehigh's opening football game. Score 29-0.
- Oct. 2.—Jefferson Medical—an easy mark. Score 35-0.
- 5.—U. P's second team furnishes us with a little amusement. Score 28-6.
- 9.—Founder's Day Hop.
- 10.—Sophs and Freshmen adorn the telephone poles with their procs during the early morning hours. Address by W. H. Nichols, LL. D., in the Chapel at 11 A. M.
- Freshmen have sport with the Sophs in the afternoon, immediately following which Freshmen can be seen promenading the campus in corduroys and flannel shirts.
- 12.—Our team beats Rutgers 16-6. Christian Association's reception is the main attraction of the evening.
- 18.—College lecture by F. L. Waldo on “Civil Service Reform.”

- 19.—Medico-Chi gets a biff sky high. Score 22-0.
- 25.—Sophomores tender the Freshmen a smoker. Great send-off given our football team at the station as they start for Carlisle.
- 26.—For the second time in succession Lehigh ties with Dickinson. Score 6-6.
- Nov. 1.—First college smoker of the year. Sophs defeat Freshmen at basketball 17-10. "Pee-rade" follows smoker.

BEFORE CHRISTMAS.

AFTER CHRISTMAS.

MITMAN, '09—"What do we have in Economics this week?"

DEVINE, '09—"Baldy."

Freshman (in Chemistry)—"When nitric acid is exposed to air, an invisible odor comes off."

DOWLING (with 1908 EPILOGUE)—"Some pretty good jokes on you in here, Professor."

PROFESSOR LAMBERT—"Well, is there any on you?"

DOWLING—"No."

PROFESSOR LAMBERT—"I knew it, you aren't worth one."

From Freshman's Chemistry Note Book—"Methyl orange is a good indicator; if put in an acid solution it is orange and in an alkali solution it becomes methyl."

STAMILMAN, '08—"What's the matter with this instrument, Professor? It shows everything upside down."

PROFESSOR WILSON—"Well, then set it up, upside down."

It is claimed by some that Lehigh is changing into an Agricultural College as the Physics Department is growing lemons.

ROBERTS, '08 (at the Commons)—"You know most of us don't eat here except at meals."

STEVENS—"Say, Brummy are you going to try for the Minstrel Show?"

BRUMBAUGH—"No, I can't Baer Love, and I don't Love Baer."

"WINDY" WILSON—"Yes, that's the cowcatcher. They put it in the rear of the train on the Lehigh and New England Railroad."

Instructor—"Mr. —, how would a dynamo work with a wooden air-gap?"

ROPER, '10—"Say, Warnke, don't you express the tensile strength of a bolt in horse-power?"

MR. STOCKER—"Now you have five points. Can you put a line through them?"

GALBRAITH, '11—"Yes, the Easton Traction Company's line."

PROF. WILSON (in Junior Railroads)—"This section will meet at the Monocacy Bridge this afternoon for an inspection trip."

HAIN, '09—"Where is the Monocacy Bridge?"

PROF. WILSON—"In front of Karl Eckhardt's."

HAIN, '09—"Oh, now I know."

Class—"Ha! ha! ha!"

HELLER, '09, says that Jack Ogburn gets up early so that he has more time to loaf during the day.

"BENNY" (in Physics)—"A screen with a hole in it one square centimeter in diameter."

"POP" (in Calculus)—"You can sometimes tell what one means by what he says."

UMBLE (in Dynamos and Motors)—"What's the difference between degrees centigrade and centigrade degrees?"

The lack of available gags this year is due to the resignation of Mr. Lowenstein, Mr. Turril and Dr. Schenk.

CLIVER, '09—"Who is this Mike Bennett anyway?"

Question—"Have you seen Barry's new automobile (automobubble)?"

Answer—"Bubble, bubble — lab fees double."

PROF. LAMBERT (looking over Bakewell's work)—"Why, Mr. Bakewell, I don't understand it."

BAKEWELL—"Why, Professor, perhaps if you studied your lesson you could understand it."

MR. SEYFERT—"If you tried to start up a dynamo and it wouldn't work what would you do?"

SCHNELLER—"Hunt for the trouble."

WHARTON (to Prof. Palmer)—"Will you translate into French, 'What do you think of John?'"

WHARTON (after the sentence has been translated)—"Suppose you should change the sentence to read 'What do you think of me,' how would you translate it?"

PROF. PALMER—"Don't ask me for I might tell you."

PROF. FRANKLIN (to Schwenk)—“Did you ever see a hollow in the water like this——?”

SCHWENK—“Didn’t the moon have some effect on that?”

PROF. FRANKLIN—“Is Mr. Lemon present?”

Junior Electricity Class—No response.

PROF. FRANKLIN—“Gentlemen, when I called the roll a few minutes ago it did not sound like Mr. Lemon’s voice in answer to his name. Now —— ”

MR. LEMON—“I’m here.”

PROF. RICHARDS (1st spasm)—“Gentlemen, I will now show you that there is no E. M. F. between the terminals of this line (places a Platinum wire across the terminals, in the meantime 110 volts having been turned on downstairs).”

(2nd spasm)—Prof. Richards is drawn back to the earth with an acceleration of 32 ft. per sec.

PROF. MCKIBBEN—“Numerically one must be greater than the other unless they happen to come equal.”

MR. SEYFERT—“What sort of material is a copper conductor made of?”

SMALL (to those who come late for breakfast)—“Blessed are those who hunger for they shall be filled (at dinner).”

BLAIR (to Mr. Daniells)—“I can’t do that for I’m going home.”

MR. DANIELLS—“Yes, I think a little time in your Mother’s care would do you good.”

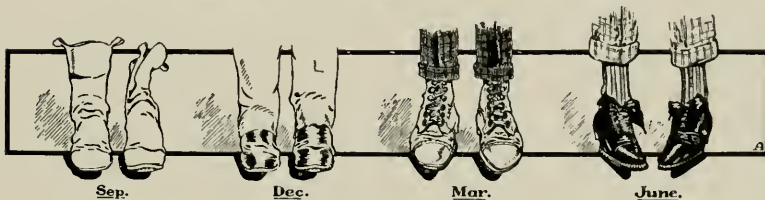

MR. ASHBAUGH—“What shall I do to be forever known.”

BRUMBAUGH, ’08—“It takes some sense to play the fool.”

Math. Dept.—“No man e’er felt the halter draw,
With good opinion of the law.”

BECHOEFER, ’10—“Sprechen ist silbern
Schweigen ist golden.”

THE FRESHMAN - FROM FARM TO COLLEGE

A SHOT AT THE GOAL.

AT THE close of a busy day Manager Wigby of the Scrambler Automobile works found that, on account of the absence of two of the clerks, it was impossible to complete the pay roll which had to be made up by the following day. He explained the situation to Marshall, a clerk, and asked him to come down to the office in the evening to finish it. Wigby dropped the keys on his desk and told Marshall to lock up the sheets in one of the drawers when he had finished.

Accordingly, shortly after seven o'clock, Marshall strolled round to the darkened building, unlocked the door and leisurely mounted the three flights of stairs. Here he turned on the electric light and entered the office to begin his task.

Frank Marshall's career at Lehigh had not been what might be called brilliant, at least in some lines. He had had great difficulty in passing off his French and German, and while in the remaining branches of his course in Mechanical Engineering his standing was higher, he was by no means a Tau Beta Pi man. It was clear to every one, including himself, that altho he had a good store of common sense, his genius did not lie in the direction of intellectual pursuits.

Marshall's strong point had been athletics. For three years he had been the main-stay and backbone of the Lehigh basketball team. In his senior year he had captained the five, and Lehigh had not lost a single game. This was due chiefly to his own magnificent playing. His one-handed shots were marvels, and in the principal game of the season, he had thrown four baskets from the center of the floor.

On Graduation Day he sat with his classmates upon the stage out under the trees on the campus before a host of admiring friends. He smoked his long stemmed clay pipe and listened to the music of the band, feeling that in a few short hours at most his college days would be a thing of the past. He heard the chosen poet extol the class in smoothly flowing verses; he received a present from the class orator; he heard dedicate the tablet which was to perpetuate the names of members of the class upon the Chapel wall. Then came the last roll call. One after another the men rose and broke their pipes. At last came his own name and crash! his happy college days were ended.

Stern reality faced him. His father had sacrificed much to send him to college, but now necessity forced him to struggle for himself. The majority of the men in his class secured positions in their chosen professions, but the only place that had opened for him was an inferior clerkship in the Scrambler Automobile Company of New York City.

As he walked to the office on the evening of which this story relates, Marshall found himself reflecting, somewhat bitterly, on the slight success that had met his conscientious efforts.

"I'm beginning to think," Marshall sighed to himself, "that about the only thing I ever did well was to shoot goals in basketball."

As he seated himself at the office desk his glance fell upon two objects. The first was a card bearing Ingall's ode, "Opportunity. The second was a canvass bag that lay on a table before the safe. "Umph," he ejaculated, "Opportunity, but not for me." And he lifted the canvass bag and jingled it. The contents were the wages of the workmen to be paid on the morrow. Marshall tried the safe door. It was locked.

"Well," he soliloquized, "Wonder how in the world Wigby came to forget it. He's usually mighty careful in such matters. I guess I'll have to keep an eye on it to-night. This is quite a joke on Wigby."

Picking up the sealed and tied bag he placed it beside him on his desk, and began his task.

Hours passed and he still scratched away at the long sheet before him, now nearing completion. His arm grew cramped and his eyes ached. Finally, he dropped the pen and with a yawn stretched his arms above his head. Suddenly his eye caught sight of a shadow thrown on the ground glass of the office door. At first he thought that it was Wigby returning for the money. Then came the suspicion of an attempt at burglary. He must save the money! Out went his hand to the sack. But save it how? He had no weapons. Before he could summon help the robber would be upon him. He might be able to handle one, unarmed though he was, but now a second shadow appeared on the glass in the door, and to expect to protect the property against two would be beyond all reason. As this flashed thru his brain, his eyes scanned the room for some possible place of concealment. Even as his sharpened senses detected the slight twisting of the knob, he caught sight of an unused open stove pipe hole, a relic of antiquated methods of heating, high in the wall before him. With the old instinct of a basketball player, stopping to consider neither time nor distance, he seized the canvass bag and tossed it straight and true into the opening above.

The next instant the door was thrown open and Marshall looked into the barrels of two sets of coldly gleaming revolvers. Five minutes later he lay on the floor, securely bound and gagged, while the two masked men worked over the safe, stopping up crevices with lard and pouring a liquid explosive into the various joints. Suddenly there was a dull explosion, and two disgusted burglars searched through a broken and empty safe for money which they knew ought to be there, but which at that moment was comfortably and safely reposing on the soot at the bottom of the flue.

It seemed to Marshall many hours before a frightened janitor whose eyes bulged out at the sight of the wrecked safe, came and released him.

Manager Wigby was immediately telephoned as well as the President of the firm, and an hour later an excited crowd of officials gathered in the office room while the janitor recklessly broke a hole in the wall. As he reached in his arm and drew forth a dusty but intact and perfectly recognizable sack, Wigby wrung Marshall's hand and the dignified President of the company turned toward the clerk. "Young man," he exclaimed, "if you had the education and training I would give you the best position in the business. You deserve it." "Sir," said Marshall, smilingly, "I graduated from Lehigh University as a Mechanical Engineer last June."

"What!" exclaimed the President, "A Lehigh man, and I never knew it. I think we can fix you up—I happen to be a Lehigh man myself."

As the party left the office, Marshall's glance rested for a moment on the printed card on the desk, and he read, half aloud, "Opportunity knocks once."

Moravian Seminary for Young Ladies.

FOUNDED 1749.

The oldest school of its kind in America, with a century and a half of history and experience yet furnished with all modern equipments, and pursuing the latest improved methods.

We do not especially prepare for college, but for LIFE. Our course of study is carefully planned to give a complete and solid education, and to make our graduates broadly cultured and truly refined women, fit to meet all the duties and demands of the best modern society and a useful, active life.

Our thorough scholastic instruction is only half our work. We give equal care and attention to the training of the characters of our pupils, the formation of right habits of thought, feeling and conduct, and the development of all those qualities, virtues and graces, that enter into a self-respecting, strong and true Christian womanhood.

A WELL-KNOWN PROFESSOR IN A GREAT UNIVERSITY WRITES:

"I certainly regard the character of material published in THE ENGINEERING RECORD, ELECTRICAL WORLD and STREET RAILWAY JOURNAL, of real value to the engineering student. The habit of reading such periodicals should be formed soon after entering college. I believe that high-grade technical journals constitute a mighty factor in increasing the number of young men who understand how to do things and who will co-operate with others to get them done."

STUDENTS KEEP POSTED!

But don't WASTE money on a lot of technical papers. We will read them ALL for you and give you more information of real value in one month than you could obtain otherwise in six months.

The Engineering Digest

is the only publication of the kind in the world, and renders a service of inestimable value to the practical engineer or the engineering student who wishes to keep in touch with up-to-date technical information. It enables him to locate immediately articles that would otherwise never have come to his attention, and forms an invaluable guide in his selection of books and periodical literature.

It has been indorsed in the most commendatory words by such men as

HENRY S. DRINKER, President Lehigh University, South Bethlehem, Pa.,
MILO S. KETCHUM, Dean College of Engineering, University of Colorado, Boulder, Colorado,
PROF. WM. T. SEDGWICK, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, Mass.,
HENRY S. JACOBY, Prof. Bridge Engineering, Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.,
HENRY T. BOVEY, Dean of Faculty of Applied Science, McGill University, Montreal, Can.,
CHARLES DERLETH, Jr., Prof. Structural Engineering, University of California Berkeley Cal.,
PROF. A. N. TALBOT, University of Illinois, Champaign, Ill.,

and hundreds of other educators as well as by librarians, engineering corporations, manufacturers and by the press generally. The Editorial Management is in charge of G. Harwood Frost (Lehigh, '93), Manager of the Engineering News Book Department.
